

New, vital information about the coronavirus and other interesting news

Seven hundred and thirty first contact, Monday, 3rd of February 2020, 9:58 pm

Ptaah Greetings, Eduard, dear friend.

Billy Good, dear friend, greetings to you too and welcome. As we have agreed, today you will be explaining some things regarding the rampantly spreading disease, corona, which is a bit more than our normal conversations. But with regard to that I would like to say that it would be good if you could explain everything with simple words so that I and all those who will then read our conversation later, when I have recalled it and written it down, can understand everything correctly.

Ptaah You are not as amateurish as you pretend to be, my friend, as also others will not be. However, you are right nevertheless, because the majority of those who will later read the contact report will most likely not be medically educated, therefore I will choose language for my explanations in such a form that he/she will also understand everything. Thus I will begin my explanation in a simple form:

1. Our research unit which, since late summer of last year has concerned itself thoroughly with the beginning of the rampantly spreading disease SARS – which is very far spread and will now spread rampantly worldwide as Corona-epidemic-pandemic – has made some terrifying discoveries so far. To that also belongs the fact that, as mighty ones of the people, the highest responsible ones of all states are incapable of properly appraising the rampantly spreading disease that has already been strongly spreading globally for some time. With a few exceptions, which, however, cannot get through with their opinions, the people's leaders are also incapable of recognising, directing and carrying out the right protective measures, which puts the blame for the pandemic, which is already underway, with them. However, as usual this will be denied and trivialised by them in order to evade their responsibility, as is the case with all boastful terrestrial mighty ones of the states.
2. Our experts have researched that this rampantly spreading disease – of which you have spoken frequently for some time and which has also been written about in contact reports – will, in the coming times, globally spread further rampantly and will intensify in its dangerous and deadly nature and will consequently also claim very many human lives.
3. The dangerous and deadly nature of this insidious rampantly spreading disease comes about through a mutation through which changes and consequently new genetic variations of the virus arise, which will become more dangerous and aggressive.
4. Due to the changing dangerousness of the coronavirus, in the coming weeks, first older human beings and also persons with an underlying medical condition will become infected, which also will lead to high mortality rates. Therefore, initially younger human beings, especially adolescents and children, are less susceptible to the coronavirus. However, through its independent mutation, new genetic variations come about, which will become more dangerous and aggressive; consequently they will then also spread to younger human beings, infect them and likewise claim victims.
 - a) Furthermore, in the coming times, globally a great number of human beings who have negatively changed immune systems due to damaging blood line mixing between members of different peoples, will be infected and will die, something about which the terrestrial immunologists, medical practitioners and virologists and so forth have no clue whatsoever. Thereto, for those persons who will read the contact report and who have no knowledge in the field of immunology, I will explain what the immune system is about:
According to the teaching of immunology or immunobiology, the immune system is described as the foundation of the physical defence with regard to biological and biochemical pathogens. Fundamentally the immune system is a factor of an organic self-defence in the form of a defence against exogenous substances which attack the human organism (and that of other life forms), for example, biological toxins and environmental toxins as well as bacteria, microbes, fungi, parasites, viruses and other pathogens. All these cause malfunctions and disturbances in the body, against which the immune system deploys defence mechanisms in order to fight the attacking foreign substances and so forth.

The teaching of the immunology or immunobiology, and therefore of the immune system, is a research subject of a part discipline of biology, namely of the system of cellular and molecular processes, which enables the recognition of various pathogens and exogenous substances and the inactivation of them.

These kinds of processes are to be understood as immune feedback, whereby due to its central role with regard to the human immune system, the immunology is very important in medicine for the understanding of a multitude of diseases. Paramount is the prevention, that is to say, measures of prophylaxis, which in any case are directed at reducing arising risks or minimising or completely preventing damaging consequences of any kind that are damaging to health and can bring about catastrophes or other unwanted situations.

There are various subdisciplines in immunology in which immunochemistry is used to research the structure of antigens, antibodies and the chemical foundations of the immune reactions. Immunogenetics researches the genetic variability of immune responses, that is to say, the mechanisms of the creation of the antigen-presenting relationships of antibodies of thymus cell receptors, that is to say, T-lymphocytes, which are a group of white blood cells that serve the immune response. Together with the B-lymphocytes, these thymic lymphocytes – the cells mature in the thymus – represent the adaptive, that is to say, acquired immune feedback, that is to say, the response of the immune system.

Finally, the immunopathology and the clinical immunology are to be mentioned, which research disturbances of the immune system, for example in regard to allergies that appear with autoimmune disease or with the formation tumours and so forth.

Billy All good and well, my friend. Your explanations are good and right, but I suppose that your detailed explanations are probably not understandable for lay persons even though you explained everything understandably. But I think that further explanations to that are not necessary, because certainly only a few earthlings would be interested in that, at least not those, who do not have enough grey matter in their bonce to even want to think about it all, consequently they are as low in intelligence as bean straw.

Ptaah Doubly as low in intelligence as bean straw, because everything in this regard if of great importance for the preservation of health.

Billy I know that, but nobody can be forced to turn towards intellect and rationality if he/she does not want it himself/herself. Namely fundamentally it is the case that the majority of earthlings does not want to be told and does not accepted any truth, consequently also good, right and important advice is thrown to the wind. If something is said, it is probably heard, but what has been said is not heard.

Ptaah Unfortunately that is a fact, because most of the Earth's human beings are so concerned about their personal well-being and their personal profit as well as all conceivable possible advantages to themselves and, above all, about a confused and irrational god-delusion-belief such that, on one hand, any personal and logical thinking is effectively strangled, as you always say, and, on the other hand, the fathoming, building and usage of intellect and rationality is impossible. But now I want to explain further necessary things that are still to be mentioned:

- b) Also atmospheric and climate-related factors contribute to the infection by the coronavirus, as well as the transmission through the air, however, which is not to be understood to mean that the air, that is to say, the atmosphere is impregnated with the pathogen of the rampantly spreading disease, but that it is transferred from person to person via the air if the distance between them is too small. Therefore it is important that in every situation and especially while talking, that is to say, communicating, a sufficiently large distance of about 1.5 to 2 metres is maintained from one human being to another human being. This is due to the fact that, while breathing and speaking, breath-wisps are emitted and also exhalation droplets are exuded which float through the air and are inhaled by persons that stand too close and who therethrough become infected.

- c) Exhalation droplets are not only inhaled by human beings standing nearby if the distance between the conversation partners is too small, but they also settle on all possible parts of the body, especially on the face and hands, but also on the clothing, as well as on cut meat of any kind, which means on open, cut meat and open, that is to say, cut fruit and vegetables, because the pathogen of the rampantly spreading disease – as well as various other pathogens – easily settles on moist surfaces, remains on them for some time and can be infectious. On the other hand, however, undamaged and whole fruit and vegetables can be washed thoroughly and enjoyed. This is because ‘dead’ items and materials of any kind, in a completely dry state, hardly offer any opportunity for the pathogen to settle or do not offer an opportunity at all, but under certain circumstances they do only when they have become moist.
 - d) A further factor for the infection with the coronavirus comes about because all genera and species of mammalian life-forms are susceptible regarding this virus and can be affected by it, in which case in particular domestic animals such as dogs and cats can contribute to the spread of the rampantly spreading disease, but also all kinds of other mammals such as cattle, horses, pigs and rodents and so forth.
 - e) The treatment of persons infected by the rampantly spreading corona disease, necessitates that doctors and care personnel perform their task only in fully protective clothing, indeed in such a way that this clothing is changed for the next infected person that is to be treated. This is because the protective clothing becomes contaminated and infectious due to the moist exhalation or expiration droplets of the patients affected by the rampantly spreading disease and therefore the virus is inevitably transmitted to further persons, indeed not only patients but also to the medical staff and care givers.
- 5) Our foresight-based cognitions show that the infection with the rampantly spreading corona disease will continue to increase globally and that already now a further escalation phase will happen, which will also expand globally in wave form in coming months, claiming many victims and sparing no country.
 - 6) The irrationality of the Earth’s human beings, especially of the leaders of states, will lead to repatriation of compatriots who are in other countries, wherethrough the persons infected with the rampantly spreading disease spread the virus ever further and increasingly and very quickly into practically all countries. Therethrough in countries where the rampantly spreading disease has been diminished it is newly ignited and newly spread due to the renewed introduction.
 - 7) Also, due to the irrationality of the majority of the population, which does not change its illogical mode of behaviour and will not adhere to the given orders regarding the protective measures, the number of infections and fatalities continue to increase; this is also because all officially ordered measures are inconsiderate and extremely flawed and inadequate to a great extent. This is the case because the majority of both genders of the responsible ones of the government are incapable of foresight, and additionally they are completely naïve – which also partly applies to the experts in virology – with regard to the dangerousness and effect of the coronavirus which independently mutates genetically.
 - 8) Since the time of the rampantly spreading disease, SARS, the experts of virology, and so forth, have researched the SARS virus, wherethrough so far certain valuable cognitions have been gained, although the entire approach, however, is far too lax. Therefore it is not recognised that through this valuable research and its results valuable substances have been acquired, which could be worked out in a relatively short time and be used against the coronavirus which is mutating and independently changing into new genetic variations.

- 9) Therefore irrationality and incapability prevail, on one hand, among the governments, public administrations, responsible ones of the states and authorities, who are incapable in their positions and are neither capable of thinking ahead logically nor of having foresight, which, on the other hand, is also the case with the populations. Altogether they are incapable of assessing dangerous happenings and situations that unexpectedly arise; therefore they are also incapable of imposing the necessary measures, having them carried out and bringing the populations under control. As a result, the responsible ones of the states and all their subgroups, down to the municipal authorities and security forces, and so forth, can hardly, or not at all, enforce the adherence to the required imposed measures before a catastrophe comes about, as will now happen due to the rampantly spreading corona-pandemic, which already began much earlier and has claimed many deaths and had already been spread abroad before the rampantly spreading disease was recognised on the 8th of December 2019, and was only dealt with in a lax form.
- 10) The mutations of the virus, which have been ongoing for a long time and which will continue to occur now and in coming times, will not be recognised by the terrestrial researchers for some time, which additionally will lead to many infections and fatalities.
- 11) Different peoples display different symptoms in relation to fever, cough and rhinitis and other symptoms of the rampantly spreading disease, of which there are more, consequently some suffer more from one form of symptoms while others suffer from other symptoms. In this regard, in view of the different populations and strata of the population, there are also various symptom forms and negative immune susceptibilities, in particular also because there is no uniform immune system in the entire population of Earth, rather every people and every strata of the population shows hardly noticeable deviations from the norm, which is, however, decisive regarding the risk of infection being higher or lower accordingly. However, this fact is still unknown to the terrestrial physicians, medical officers, researchers, virologists and immunologists and so forth, as are very many other factors that they still have to fathom for many years and arduously.
- 12) The different immune systems, that is to say, the biological defence system of the different terrestrial peoples, the Earth's human beings – as well as that of all higher life-forms – prevents damage to tissue and organs occurring due to pathogens; but regarding this and concerning healthy modes of behaviour and so forth, the population has been very little informed or not informed at all by the health experts and not taught by them, as would be necessary. Regarding this fact also the governments and authorities would be challenged to undertake and carry out the necessary steps and actions nationwide in order to instruct the populations, wherethrough these would also learn how they basically have to behave so that big terrible things can be avoided when a rampantly spreading disease or a catastrophe descends on them.
- 13) The mentioned fact of the different immune systems among the Earth's human beings, that is to say, their peoples, groups, tribes, genera and peoples mixings, is not known to the terrestrial physicians. However, these differences are to be especially considered because they are very significant, because not only are they dependent on the atmosphere and determined by climate and regions, rather they also depend on societal modes of behaviour and so forth. Therefore in various countries they contribute especially strongly to the infection with the rampantly spreading corona disease and to mortalities. In certain countries the atmospheric and climatic influences on the immune systems lead to particular viral genetic mutations, wherethrough also different infectious moments arise; consequently the ongoing gen-based mutations of the virus also show different symptoms with regard to the rampantly spreading corona disease. Accordingly, these are particularly pronounced in certain areas of emigration countries due to the mixing of peoples. However, regarding that there is still more to explain, namely also concerning the 'purity of species', species diversity and the mixing of peoples, because these have a special value with regard to resilience of the terrestrial human beings' immune systems which are weakened or strengthened accordingly.
- 14) Earth's humanity consists of one single race, and therefore not of several as is generally assumed. Therewith Earth's humanity worldwide is one single genus that is referred to as human being, which, however, is subdivided into different species and which are organically-structurally derived from one another, just as they are in all globally spread species, which altogether are the genus Omedam, that is to say, human being. That means that they are classified as one derivative, that is to say, one basic substance and therewith as one stem connection that is chemically-organically equal. This stem connection and its derivatives are structurally closely connected with each other, as is accordingly clarified by the definition. To that effect, through the organic chemistry, a substance results, which – due to containing a unit of the structure – corresponds to a functional group of a stem connection and also contains a structural element of this functional group in the same state of oxidation. If the functional group of the stem connection is viewed, then indeed in the derivative a new functional group is found as species, which, however, possesses a structural part-element of the functional group of the stem connection in the same state of oxidation. And ...

Billy Excuse the interruption, but this chemical stuff is probably not suitable for being understood by lay persons. I am also not very well educated in these things, although I can understand where all of this is leading to; however, due to my lack of studies my intelligence is not sufficient to be able to precisely define and work out the whole processes.

Ptaah That was not the point of my attempt to explain; unfortunately I fell into the knowledge I had learned and did not think about having to give an explanation that is understandable to laypersons.

Billy Alright, it was not a reproach, just an interjection to draw your attention to the fact that for us laypeople you have fallen into talking shop, which would ultimately have fallen into forms of human breeding and human monoculture. In any case, I assume that because you spoke of 'purity of species', species diversity and of a mixing of peoples, while I understand your mentioned term 'purity of species' to actually mean 'purity of race', that is to say, 'race purity'. Concerning this I learned from your father Sfath that a 'purity of species' as such does bring advantages as well as disadvantages, namely with regard to a susceptibility to diseases or strength of immunity in relation to diseases. Accordingly, in my understanding – as I learned from Sfath early on in my life and if I may describe the term 'purity of species' used by you as 'pure breed' and call it that – it can generally have a good and stronger constitution, but, on the other hand, can also have a less good constitution. And this relates to the physical, psychical and consciousness-based health, but also to the fact that earthlings can be as low in intelligence as bean straw, or intelligent beasts. In my life I have also made the lived and practical experience, and learnt this, in dealing with many 'pure bred' human beings. Therefore these facts are known to me, and for me they are lived and experienced facts which I was also able to simply observe many times, however from that I could learn much about the earthlings. However, for me there is no reason to suppose that the negative aspect of it all would only be limited to the ones that are the rank and file and therewith to the majority of the earthlings, because I have made my observations to a great part also among academics and those who flaunt doctoral degrees as well as among various great and renowned figures of government, right up to presidents of states, dictators and also right up to the emperor of Persia. And especially among them, of all people, as a rule, I have noticed many kinds of deficits in terms of character, action, intelligence, rationality and behaviour, which were less present or not at all present among the majority of the pedestrian population.

Now, I also know that a mono population, that is to say, a 'pure breed' of a people, can be harmful if no mixing with foreign immigrants takes place and therefore no fresh blood is added, because the old-blood and the immune system of a people becomes 'depleted', so to speak, and therethrough the human beings become more susceptible to disease and consequently less resistant towards pests and malicious, bad and poisonous environmental influences. However, if a mixing of blood and so forth, and indeed a mixing of peoples – so to speak, an essential mixed culture – happens in an appropriate and controlled frame, then, depending on the case, the effect is either a higher and better resilience or, on the other hand, a lower and worse resilience. And this fact can be observed and recognised world-wide among all peoples, while this principle can be recognised and found not only among the human beings of Earth but also among all life-forms because the transmission from one life-form to another in every case has a positive or negative effect, therefore also in regard to the terrestrial human species.

As I already learned as a young man from Sfath – indeed through visits that took me to various peoples world-wide, where I, by means of his help and the time travels, had the opportunity to learn these facts, as it was also the case later during my own travels around the world – the ‘purity of species’ is not good, indeed already from the ground up. As I have noticed, through a justified, controlled and targeted revitalisation of blood, that is to say, mixing of members of different peoples, very many valuable and positive, developmental-progressive innovations and evolutive value complexities arise. This is in contrast to development-inhibiting, that is to say, development-disturbing and even development-destructive factors that arise from wild, unjustified and uncontrolled machinations and processes of this kind, from which unpeace, hatred and all evil come forth. And in my opinion, exactly this is the reason that revitalisation of blood between peoples and thus mixing of peoples must only occur in a controlled frame, but not through the mass immigration caused by globalisation or through the floods of refugees, who, due to war, hunger, unemployment and terrorism, flood foreign countries and bring about blood mixings with the local population in a random and directionless form, as well as voluntarily or forcedly through Gewalt.

(Gewalt: “There is no English word that conveys the true meaning of the German word ‘Gewalt’. ‘Gewalt’ is the brutal execution of elemental might and force, but it is far above all might and all force. ‘Gewalt’ exists in different and relative forms, one example being a ‘gewalttätige Gesinnung’ – expression from the character, personality, thoughts, feelings and emotions that shows the inclination to act with Gewalt. When human beings possess or carry out acts of Gewalt and it is not based in logic, then this usually involves violence, brutality, degradation and is terribly destructive.” (Meier, BEA 2010, The Goblet of Truth, page XIII, footnote)

Strictly speaking I see all peoples with all their cultures each as a special and gigantic organism, which constantly grows and continuously develops itself further, while, however, each organism is different to every other. And if this was not the case, the whole world would look very bad and sink into monotony, because if all human beings and their cultures were the same, then no further development would take place, because the entire humanity would be incapable of doing so and would languish as a result of the factor ‘purity of species’. This is the case because in this ‘purity of species’, that is to say, the purity of races, no mixing of blood, that is to say, no revitalising of blood would occur and deterioration in manifold form would occur, indeed right up to the extinction of peoples as it has already happened in earlier times, and therefore various peoples have become extinct. Therefore, for the preservation of peoples and the entire humanity in general, it is necessary that the mixing of members of different peoples occurs in order to revitalise the blood among them and to therethrough counteract a mono-population, that is to say, a ‘purity of species’, that is to say, race-purity. And that is necessary because every people as a whole as well as each single individual must develop further and for that also a revitalisation of blood, that is to say, a mixing between the peoples is necessary. However, if this does not come about, then there is nothing that can be supplemented or combined, because only supplementing and blending of various matching factors allows for new things to arise and brings forth that which is life-permanent. And it is exactly every newly created permanent thing that forms an important factor for a further development to occur and guarantees a permanence, and that also refers to the continued existence of the earthliness as a whole and in its entire diversity. Therefore it is totally irrational to believe that a people has to be biologically and culturally of ‘pure species’, that is to say, of pure race, because if this delusion arises, a degenerative catastrophe is preprogrammed, as human history has proven since time immemorial and still does today, when, in the delusion of purity of races, the world has been overrun with war, murder, looting and destruction since the year dot, as also happened from the year 1939 to 1945 through the NAZI regime, which, however, still happens today around the world, for example, through the terror originations of all kinds, religious-fanatical states and the like. In fact the terrestrial humanity must stop deliriously considering itself to be pure-race peoples and to identify themselves as such pure-race ones, because in truth there is no single peoples on Earth that would effectively be of pure race, because actually already from the earliest times indisputable blood-mixings between peoples have taken place, from which again and again particular new species developed, which continues to the present day. That simply had to be said.

Ptaah And it has been well explained and, in addition, you anticipated all the necessary explanations, which I still wanted to give in this regard, in an understandable and simple form. But now I want to go on with the other explanations that I had started:

- 15) A spread of the rampantly spreading disease can already occur after seconds, that is to say, after the moment of infection, therefore not only when it becomes detectable and acute. Wearing protective masks against pathogens only makes sense if they are also used sensibly, which however cannot be the case if they are worn during daytime use on the street and in buildings, instead of in crowds or in the near and close vicinity of the ones that are befallen by the rampantly spreading disease. Basically, on the one hand, they are useless in this form without protective goggles, because even masks that are available on the market can only be useful if they are thick and dense enough, through which they prevent one's own exhalation of breath and spreading of exhalatory droplets and therefore they also cannot be absorbed and cannot be inhaled externally, that is to say, by other persons. Common face masks, however, are useless in this respect because, as a rule, they are not suitable as a protective measure against bacteria and viruses and normally only protect against dust, sand and pollen and the like. Only special filter masks and special medicinal masks are useful. Therefore, on one hand, protective masks should be equipped for their intended purpose and should, on the other hand, only be used if the use is connected to an effective purpose, but if it is not necessary and protective masks are worn regardless, then this is not only nonsensical, but also ridiculous and equates to carnival behaviour.
- 16) The incubation period, that is to say, the time between contamination/infection and the breaking out and becoming acute of the rampantly spreading corona disease corresponds to the time that lapses between the infection with the pathogen and the appearance of the first symptoms. The incubation period of this rampantly spreading disease is insidious and cannot simply be determined as 14 days as is claimed erroneously by inexperienced medical practitioners or by virologists and so forth. According to our initial research, investigations and cognitions, the incubation period can amount to one month or even up to three months, depending on the case, but also from some hours up to some years, which in each case depends on the form and state of the immune system.
- 17) Our observations and cognitions also show that the coronavirus, which occasionally changes genetically, behaves very aggressively or fatally in the human organism, depending on the corresponding immune status, but, on the other hand, also behaves in a restrained form which leads to a recovery, but this does not correspond to a complete annihilation of the virus. Our cognitions show that certain genetic variants do not die off even with recovery, rather remain latent, but are not immediately recognisable and also not detectable, as is also the case with various other diseases. Concerning this insidious rampantly spreading corona disease, however, at some point after years or decades – for example, through intimate contacts – it can unexpectedly happen that the latent, dormant evil can be transmitted, in which case then an unusual phenomenon arises such that, due to the changed genetic variations of the known virus, a disease reaction takes place in a completely different form. However, it is impossible to fathom this fact through the terrestrial research with the medical and virological apparatuses and other technology, because, according to our future viewings, in the present third millennium the instruments necessary for this cannot be developed and constructed. Even though the Earth's human beings think that they have a highly developed technology of very highly developed value at their disposal, the truth is, which is to be said about it, that the entire terrestrial technology in every respect is equal to the first step out of the deepest darkness into a weak shimmer of a light that is still very far away.
- 18) As the closing point of my explanations it is still to be said that, according to our investigations, in all countries world-wide completely insufficient laws regarding rampantly spreading diseases exist, just as there is also no significant understanding at all of how and when an epidemic or pandemic must be approached effectively in order to prevent it.

Billy Your father Sfath already explained this to me. But all that you have presented and explained just then – all of it will probably be thrown to the wind again by various so-called ‘experts’ with or without academic title, such as physicians, biologists, chemists, immunologist and virologists and so forth, as well as by the majority of the peoples, who, as usual, think they know everything better. Additionally, as is always the case when something special happens, the pointy-headed ones of all kinds come, indeed beginning at the highest government, right down to the ones that are the rank and file of the majority of humanity, and who proclaim their apparent explanations and therewith want to make themselves great and show off what they twaddle on about in terms of banalities, pseudo-knowledge, pseudo-intelligence and completely stupid nonsense. The highest ones in government in particular reveal themselves as being pathetic, who show off tremendously, however, in truth neither understand anything at all of what they talk about nor are they effectively far-sighted and consequently also cannot impose the logical measures and also not carry them out and not enforce them. And effectively that is the case all around the world, unfortunately also here in Switzerland, where I only see one person in the Federal Palace which I must not count among the failures and who I can give due respect, which I have actually done and for which I received a handwritten appreciation.

Ptaah I know all that and what concerns their behaviour regarding their supposed knowledge, which they give as their ‘best’ during public pompous explanations to the media, such as newspapers, journals, presentations, radio, television and so forth, is only embarrassing and ridiculous.

Billy How right you are, my friend. But I think that we should deviate from this topic and talk about something else; for example, about me having received UFO related messages recently from all around the world by means of telephone, email and also in written form, and indeed about some peculiar flying objects being observed for 15 or 20 minutes, which, high in the sky, pass by, following each other like a long chain and indeed totally without a sound. To some extent I am allowed to publish those reports of sightings, however, while other observers, women and men, wish for me to remain silent about it and neither publish their reports or names. Quite obviously it relates to those unknown flying objects which we have already talked about repeatedly, because you are also focussed on those UFO phenomena, that is to say, UFO activities and you have told me various things about them, indeed also in relation to what the reason for all of these UFO operations actually is, that is to say, what the background for it is and what the purpose of it is.

Ptaah Regarding that I also told you that you must remain silent about it and that you shall not give any explanations regarding this if you are asked for it.

Billy I do adhere to that, Ptaah, because with regard to what you told me about it I do not pass on any word, nor about what you have investigated regarding the origin of these flying objects, which are just UFOs for the earthlings. I also remain silent regarding your explanations on what the tasks, intentions and purpose are of the crew of these UFOs and their increased flights and so forth, which you have ascertained with your very much higher technical possibilities than the crew and hangers-on as well as the entire large group have. That which I have given answers to each time, however, was only related to the fact that these flight objects do not belong to you Plejaren and correspond in no form to your Plejaren technologies, and – according to your information – regardless of their higher technology in comparison to ours, are still rather poorly developed. Consequently, as you always explain, this foreign group with their UFOs is also not in a position and thus not capable of spotting you, the Plejaren, your presence and your beam ships, as they also, despite their higher technology, cannot perceive and therefore not ascertain that they are being observed, examined and ‘screened’ by you with regard to their secret machinations. And I can fully understand that you may tell me this recognition only in confidence and bound by secrecy, because ...

Ptaah Exactly, because ...

Billy And I adhere to that.

Sevenhundred and thirtyfourth Contact, Sunday, the 22nd of March 2020, 11:38 pm

Billy Ah, there you are, and welcome to you. Greetings to you Enjana ...

Enjana Greetings to you too ..., it is a joy for me.

Billy Excuse me Florena, greetings to you too ... Whenever you come here together, I do not know who of the two of you to first...

Florena That is not important, otherwise the three of us would have had to ... at the same time, and that would be a little inconvenient. As often as we come to you, however, it is always something special again for us. So greetings to you too, dear father-friend ...

Enjana We are here because Ptaah was called away and cannot come himself, however, something significant is to be explained, which Florena will explain.

Billy ... Then it must be important, or?

Florena Yes, there is considerable unpleasant information, which I am mandated by Ptaah to explain to you, and indeed the following:

The prevailing situation of the rampantly spreading corona disease pandemic is getting increasingly out of the control of the good human nature and now also includes Switzerland in a frame that also requires special precaution and measures for you, which you are to take, carry out and adhere to, and indeed the following:

- 1) The dangerousness and deadliness of the rampantly spreading disease occurs through a mutation and arising changes, wherethrough new genetic variations of the virus come about that have already become much more dangerous and aggressive, which consequently results in increased and unpredictable opportunities of infection and the whole thing is spreading further, indeed also in Switzerland as I already mentioned.
- 2) In the coming time, the rampantly spreading corona disease not only spreads around the Earth but also into Switzerland, wherethrough the infections and death rates dangerously increase to an alarming amount, wherefore Ptaah explains that all persons living at the center are encouraged not to leave the center anymore.
- 3) Persons in the center who have to carry out their daily work at external workplaces are encouraged to let themselves be exempt, that is to say, dispensed, namely at least for 14 days, but preferably until the 20th of April, which is absolutely necessary. After this break it is to be decided what behaviour will furthermore be necessary for the further weeks according to the existing situation and what therefore, based on rationality, will be the right thing to do.
- 4) From now on, all persons at the center should not leave the center until the 20th of April at the earliest and should adapt to a detention, because this alone can offer a certain level of safety for one's health.

Exceptions should only be considered for unavoidable visits to the doctor, as well as for Eva and Barbara, who have to look after their mothers but must be careful to avoid other contacts of any kind, even with their own family members living outside the center.

- 5) All activities of the association, such as lectures, passive annual general assembly, core group general assembly, visitor reception, kitchen correction work and compulsory work by passive members are to be avoided during the entire detention period; voluntary outdoor work in the forest and garden and other activities of the core group and passive group members can be carried out if the workers stay among themselves, do not enter the center building and keep the appropriate distance of at least 2 metres from the center residents, in order to avoid touching a body and contamination through exhaled breath or expiratory secretions.

- 6) No food purchases should be made during the detention period, nor should any other external errands be carried out. According to Ptaah, due to Billy's provision, enough food and emergency supplies are stored in the center so that even a longer detention time can be bridged without any problems.
If necessary, home delivery services can be used for fresh vegetables, fresh fruits and other necessities, while, however, contact with the persons delivering the necessary goods must be avoided.
- 7) What Ptaah strongly recommends for all persons in the center should also apply to all core group and passive members residing outside of the center, thus in Switzerland and in all other countries, consequently they all should, to the best of their abilities, take steps and behave in the above-mentioned wise and protect themselves against an infection of the rampantly spreading corona disease.

These, dear father friend, are the recommendations that Ptaah is instructing to do and which are to be followed because they correspond to an urgent need for protective measures to be taken. Communicating this to you was my duty assigned to me by Ptaah.

Billy Thanks Florena. We will make an effort to follow the recommendations by Ptaah. Please give him our thanks for his advice.

Enjana It really is an urgent necessity to follow them, because as we know, the precautions and measures given by government regulations are completely irresponsibly insufficient, both in Switzerland as well as worldwide in all other countries.

Florena This is actually the case because, as we know from our investigations and observations as well as from foreseeing, globally the majority of all state leaderships, from top to bottom, are incompetent and unable to be far-sighted and responsible enough in order to rationally understand the whole matter of the pandemic, as it is also not able to actuate the necessary measures. The majority of the peoples are also dozing to the same extent and therethrough causes mass infections and mass mortality, indeed from now on not only the deaths of older human beings, because this level has been exceeded due to changes in the virus and new genetic variations have emerged, which now also befall younger human beings down to newborns and have a fatal effect.

Billy This, I think, was to be expected, because neither intellect nor rationality can be used by all those who cannot be taught. The bottomless bean-straw-like low intelligence and the irresponsibility of the majority of the earthlings, the governors and authorities and the populations – with which all the minority, who use their intellect and rationality, has no chance of expressing opinions and acting – inevitably had to lead to the fact that the pandemic could even arise and get badly out of the control of the good human nature, and now, according to your explanations, begins to be rampant even further and higher, also here in Switzerland.

Enjana This is indeed the case, but if you allow, both of us still have some questions related to the teaching. If your time allows you?

Billy Why my time? Surely it is about your time, right?

Florena Yes, that is true, but ...

Billy I thought so, then please, do not be stopped and fire away ...
